Mansion House Announces New Canadian Distributor for Sodbusters

Mississauga, Ontario - July 29, 2008 (Mansion House Games) Mansion House Games and Hobbies announced today that it has reached a distribution agreement with Everest Wholesale for its new farming-themed board game, Sodbusters.

Everest is one of Canada's leading game and toy distributors, carrying mass-market lines such as Hasbro, Mattell, and Webkinz as well as specialty games from publishers such as Rio Grande Games, Wizards of the Coast, Z-Man Games, Days of Wonder, and others.

Sodbusters simulates the settling and farming of the North American prairie around the turn of the last century. It's one of only a very few board games aimed at young adults and adults to be based on a farming theme. In Canada, Sodbusters has already been picked up by a number of retailers ranging from specialty game stores to the nationwide retailer Home Hardware.

"We're very pleased to be working with Everest," said Randal Heide, president of Mansion House. "This will make it easy for full-line game stores, educational toy stores, and nationwide retailers to purchase Sodbusters through an established distributor they are already buying in quantity from."
