Sodbusters Launches in U.S. at Origins

Mississauga, Ontario - July 1, 2008 (Mansion House Games) Sodbusters, the new farming-themed strategy board game released in Canada in May, recently made its U.S. debut at the Origins Game Fair and is now available from American retailers.

At the Origins fair, held annually in Columbus, Ohio in late June, Sodbusters was featured by Ravenstone Games and Hobbies, a Columbus-based retailer specializing in games of all types. Shortly after the Origins event, Time Well Spent Games, an online games retailer based in Colorado, was named the featured online retailer for the U.S. launch of Sodbusters.

Sodbusters simulates the settling and farming of the North American prairie around the turn of the last century. It's one of only a very few board games aimed at young adults and adults to be based on a farming theme.

In Canada, Sodbusters has already been picked up by a number of retailers ranging from specialty game stores to the nationwide retailer Home Hardware.
